Amanda Kiernan Martin
Episcopal Diocese of California

Amanda Kiernan Martin is the Director of Planned Giving for the Episcopal Diocese of California, the parent organization of 82 congregations and charitable institutions throughout the Bay Area. Working on behalf of the Diocese, Amanda has assisted congregations and nonprofits in raising millions of dollars through bequest, charitable remainder vehicles, and complex asset transfers while also helping these communities navigate the important discussions revolving around full-life planning and inter-generational stewardship. Prior to joining the Episcopal Diocese of California, Amanda served as a planned giving associate for the University of Notre Dame, assisting in the integration of major and planned gifts for capital campaigns. With more than a decade of experience across the non-profit spectrum, Amanda has worked in nearly every area of fundraising from grant writing to major gifts to planned giving. She currently serves on the planning committee for the Northern California Planned Giving Council and as a volunteer mentor for Girls on the Run. She has an undergraduate degree from the University of Denver and a Juris Doctorate from the University of Notre Dame.